

Biography of Susan E. Bridges

Susan Bridges is the principal of A.G. Richardson Elementary School, part of Culpeper County Public Schools in Culpeper Virginia. Susan has worked at A.G. Richardson since 1992; first as the assistant principal, and for the last nine years as principal. Previously, Susan served as an assistant principal of a junior high school in Fauquier County Public Schools, and for seven years taught the Life Sciences as a seventh grade teacher. Susan received her Bachelors degree in Biology from Wake Forest University and her Masters of Educational Administration from George Mason University. Susan currently serves as the President-elect of the Virginia Association of Elementary School Principals. She has received the National Association of Elementary School Principals' National Distinguished Principals Award in 1996 and is a member of the Alpha Delta Kappa Educational Sorority. Currently, Susan serves on the Virginia Advisory Board on Teacher Education and Licensure.